Brief Report

Department of Botany organized a Seed Ball Drive - 2022, on 17th June 2022. The motive of “Seed Ball Drive”, is to inspire students for tree plantation in an efficient way i. e Seed Ball.

The Japanese naturalist Masanobu Fukuoka 1996 derive this idea of seed balls to plant trees in a cost-effective way. In this technique, three parts of soil and one part of cow dung or compost are mixed with the help of water and one healthy seed is placed in that and shaped as a ball, and lastly air dry. In this program students were informed about the idea of a seed ball and how to make it with the help of an online PowerPoint presentation and video; after that students were asked to prepare a seed ball and submit it to the department. The student prepared a seed ball with native seeds embedded in it. Then seed balls were scattered by students on barren land in their routine path daily journey to college.

Dr. Smita P. Gudadhe head of the Botany Department, encouraged students to prepare seed balls. Ms. Manasi Joshi faculty member of the Botany Department conducted an online program. Dr. Shalesh Bansod and Mr. Surendra Sinkar faculty members of the Department of Botany encouraged students to take part Seed ball drive. Overall, this program inspires students for tree plantation and conservation in an innovative way.
